

An Era of Homeschooling

Over the past decade, there has been a surprising increase in homeschooling. Recently, this rise can be attributed to the social impact of school closures related to the pandemic. Parents who have never considered homeschooling their children are left without a choice, in turn leading to an increase in parent-instructors. With little financial resources and an overwhelming amount of information available online, it can be challenging to find the best educational program. Developing a structured curriculum tailored to the individual student's needs can be a struggle (especially if there are multiple students and various age groups).

The “one size fits all” model created by the traditional public school is a way of the past. Social networking, homeschooling blogs, and the abundance of how-to books are all great resources to aid parents in understanding the realities of their new homeschool lifestyle. With online learning being the new modern-day approach, our complimentary Knowledge Transfer & Retention System® will help elucidate some of the challenges that arise while preparing your students for the real world. Moreover, this will enable you to formulate an individualized learning plan for each student (regardless of their age), which is not only necessary but also great for motivation.

Life & Career Prep courses are designed to professionally and personally set your student up for success by preparing them for the workforce or college degree program.

Rest assured.....our KT&RS software is designed for an all in one experience. What does this mean?

Each student will have the benefit to excel at their own pace, with a curriculum tailored to meet their individual needs. Not only do you have access to life and career prep courses, but you can also upload create your own videos, upload pre-existing videos, and create tailored exams. Our award-winning software will then track and provide metrics on the developed learning objectives. This keeps the student engaged and allows the parent-instructor to identify their strengths and weaknesses.

Regardless of a family's rationale for homeschooling, the universal tenet of homeschoolers is the importance of parental choice and the conviction that parents are capable to create custom course curriculum with beneficial results.
